This well established retail and wholesale automotive accessory business offers an acquirer a 20-year presence in its market area, a consistent history of growth in both sales and product lines, and a well trained staff of four full-time employees (including the owner). Strategic parts associations and a mixed clientele are in place for continued success by a new owner.

Its ideal location coupled with the booming population growth of its Southern Colorado town, results in great opportunity for additional expansion and continued sales growth.

This company would make an excellent acquisition for either an industry buyer looking to expand into Southern Colorado or an automotive buff looking for a fun, profitable, and successful retail business.
